Global Learning Mechanism

The Go-to Platform for the Latest Health & Wellbeing Insights, Information, Research and Case Studies

GLM at a Glance

The Global Learning Mechanism (GLM) is a global learning platform that has been created for key stakeholders with an interest in health.

These stakeholders can leverage the platform as a new resource to empower people to live healthier lives by encouraging behaviour change.

By acting with transparency and sharing the highs and lows of our journey, the GLM was built to highlight and demonstrate the will of the industry to drive progress, innovation and impact at scale.

Ambition

Through the GLM, we aim to extend learning opportunities for the health and wellness community across the globe, through the sharing of key resources and insights.

Our ambition will be achieved through members actively sharing resources, in line with charter commitments.

Learning Communities

The GLM Community is a network for professionals driving positive change to connect with each other to exchange knowledge, best practices and key learnings.

The first GLM Community group provides a space for Collaboration for Healthier Lives members in particular to come together, work collaboratively, and exchange ideas on what works and what doesn't in their respective initiatives.

Beyond the knowledge and best practice sharing in a private environment, members of GLM Community groups will get exclusive access to webinars, internal reports, and other key resources.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

- The GLM is an open access repository: a digital database where the content is freely available to download and reuse (sometimes with restrictions).

- No login or subscription is required to access the platform and download content.

- It is a searchable database whereby users can find the latest insights, results and case studies of work being undertaken by CGF members and collaborators around the world.

- A variety of tagged multimedia and html content (reports, toolkits, videos, etc.) are filed in a way that makes them easy to find by users.

- It provides access that allows users to interact with each other, as part of a global knowledge and best practice sharing community.
