We'll hear from those working together on the largest industry collaboration on improving health and wellness via the CGF's Collaboration for Healthier Lives Coalition. And, we will welcome speakers from industry, academia and other health experts as we explore what it really takes to address the health-related challenges facing our industry and growing demand from consumers for our industry to play a positive role. Discover examples from around the world on how CGF members are working to drive change in stores, in the digital environment and with their own employees, and at scale.
